We survived. With the Mayan threat of the world's end in December not occurring, we survived literally; but physical survival is just one part of living. We survived here at AHHS with friends, learning, laughter and activities. Of course, we had our difficulties with the stress of classes and busy schedules. Despite this, we succeeded and grew with our own survival methods. In the end we all made it through the year together. This is how we did it. How We Survived...

The school district welcomed new superintendent Tim Rhead as clothing evolved from t-shirts and shorts to hoodies and jeans during the fall. Players and fans traveled to Freeman into the arctic tundra for a football game, but celebrated a warm Homecoming.

A new eligibility policy took effect allowing students to be failing one class while still participating in extra-curricular activities. The injury-stricken football team coped with two broken collarbones, the volleyball team made a reoccurrence in the Region championship, and Cross Country sent one runner to State. Oral Interp also sent performers to State, FFA and FCCLA had succesful competitions, and the band marched on. Snow made its first appearance on Nov. 26 as students developed their back to school habits.

Taking a break from the intensity, D. Steen, S. Jensen, G. Doering, L. McConnell, and L. Hummel grab a quick snack before returning to the junior high dance floor.

Cross Country

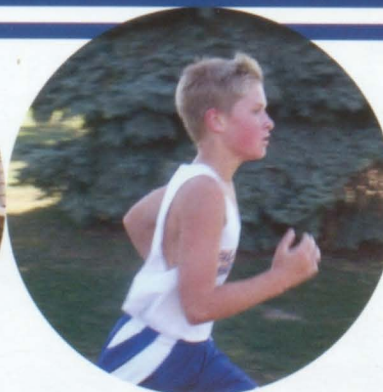

1. Recovering from a grueling practice, sophomore Ashton Liston rides his bike to the locker rooms.
2. Sprinting to the line sophomore Marcus Ireland competes at State.
3. Fighting the steep hills, 8th grader Parke Dooley refuses to give up.
4. Excited for his first meet, freshman Brock Norseen hops in the activity van.

"Everyone ran for their own reasons, but ended up having fun running together."
- David Broadwell, Coach

"I wish I had done cross country before this year. I loved it."
-Chantell Westberg, Senior

Cross Country may seem a simple sport, but it is not an easy one. It requires diligent practice and dedication to achieve the energy and endurance needed to run miles without stopping. This year, the only experienced AHHS runner was sophomore Ashton Liston with Marcus Ireland, a sophomore who had previously run cross country for Bonesteel. Senior Chantell Westberg, freshman Brock Norseen, and 8th grader Parker Dooley were all new to the team. Although the team was small, the size brought them all closer together. The weather this year was so hot that at many meets the runners had water passed to them during the races to prevent dehydration. The team no longer rode in the mini bus but enjoyed the school's new activity van which had working air conditioning and comfy seats.

Ireland placed 19th at Regions and made it to State placing 74th.

Volleyball

1. Perfecting her drills during practice, Jessica Wegh demonstrates precision passing during the game.
2. Getting pumped for the game, the team somersaults backwards.
3. Waving to the hometown crowd, Eva Beeck is announced as a starter.
4. Focusing on the server, Maggie Brown anticipates where the ball will be placed.

Bump, set, spike, repeat. This ritual never gets old for the Cubs. During a game they have to be prepared for anything that comes their way. Fast reactions are a necessity, and they included a new drill during practice to improve this specific skill. The girls started their season with four consecutive Saturday tournaments. Although this drained their energy, the Cubs did well and gained experience. In the middle of the season they won the Tri-Valley Conference Tournament after beating Ponca in the final match at Centerville. The Cubs also defeated Viborg-Hurley in four matches for the District Championship. This was a huge accomplishment for their season and created an everlasting memory for the girls. Seniors Eva Beeck, JoAnah Beeck, Maggie Brown and Jessica Wegh all showed improvement in skills and provided leadership throughout the season. All the girls can look back on their careers with their heads held high and filled with successful memories.

Football

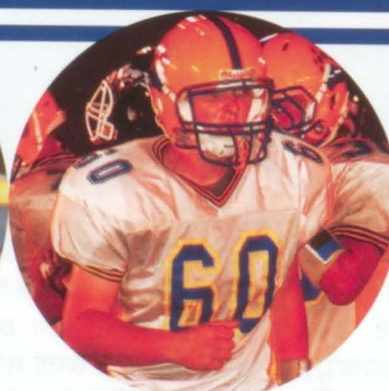

1. Sprinting past defenders, Colin Walth runs toward the endzone.
2. Preparing to unleash his tackling fury, Jaylen Dickau waits for the snap of the ball.
3. Study team captains: Erik Barnes, Casey Reihe, and Colin Walth.
4. Erik Barnes reaches for extra yards as Lyle Laframboise plows a tackler and Austin Heck roars in his power stance.

"Considering the relative age of our players, I would consider the season a success."

With eight seniors lost from last year, the expectations coming into this year were grim to say the least. The permeating atmosphere suggested that the Cubs were going back to those good old 0-8 years, but the team made a statement on day one against Gayville-Volin. The Cubs put the meaning back into "Blackout" that night with a dominating defeat of the Raiders 36-0. Unfortunately, this success ceased in Irene-Wakonda as freshman quarterback Grant Johnson fractured his collarbone. To compensate, Coach Haak programmed his factory produced twin brother, Mitch, to finish the season. During Homecoming, the only fracture produced was the Baltic Bulldogs, dominated by the Cubs 48-12. You can bet Nicki Minaj was blasting in the locker room that night! However, the season culminated with a disappointing loss at Centerville in the frigid rain. This ended the Cubs' season with a final record of 3-5.

Boys in dresses and kids looking like they came from the wrong decade? Yes, it's definitely homecoming week. Monday was Decade Day, followed by the Volleyball Homecoming game against EPJ . The girls won 3 sets to 1. Tuesday was Opposite Gender day, followed by Coronation that night. Seniors Jesse Sitting Crow and Jessica Wegh were crowned king and queen. The audience also enjoyed the many skits that each class put together and performed, especially the senior skit, in which the seniors portrayed each other. Wednesday, the school dressed up in wacky outfits. Some students made Wacky Wednesday their Get Up and Go day wearing pajamas and slippers to school. Thursday was Class Color day, many of the classes used face paint to show off their color. Some seniors even painted their whole face black! Friday was Spirit Day, followed by the Homecoming Football game and the Homecoming Dance. The Cubs were victorious in their Homecoming football game, beating the Baltic Bull Dogs 48 to 12. To top off this exciting homecoming week, the high school put on the annual Homecoming dance. Many of the high school students attended and showed just how funky a Cub can be!

Long gone were the days of green grass and warm air. With winter finally arriving in mid-December, students were ready for snow. It was hard to focus during the first snowfall and the anticipation for Christmas break grew stronger as weeks went on.

To celebrate the Holidays, the hallways were lined with Christmas lights and wrapping paper. An "Ugly Sweater Contest" was held to liven up the school day. Girls slipped on dresses and boys put on their ties to attend the first ever Winter Formal. We spent a large amount of energy cramming for semester tests. It was long, endless hours of studying, but the break spent with our friends and family was worth it. When we came back, our break was extended even longer with the broken waterline. Students also showed their musical talents in the Pop concert held at the high school.

Swearing to tell the truth and nothing but the truth, senior Jessica Wegh places her hand on the Bible before testifying.

Lance Sogn, Austin Osterkamp and Shawn Wilson

Projects dominated classrooms this year. The anatomy class taught by David Broadwell were "lucky" enough to dissect a raccoon... as well as its unborn babies and to travel to Vermillion to visit USD's Med Lab to get a better insight in the human body.

Kelly Dunkelberger's ag classes also kept busy siding the school's infamous playhouse. The lengthy project was continuously interrupted by blizzards, but they used their time wisely indoors building a shed.

The senior class got the chance to have a mock trial in Brian Haak's government class. Even some juniors enrolling in the class participated. The honorable judge Mikayla Brooke along with the help of the jury (the entire class) decided the defendant was guilty!

The Student Body was led by President Casey Reihe and Vice President Jessica Wegh. Student Council met throughout the year to plan events such as the Winter Formal. Students also decided to give back to community by donating $6,000 to local concerns.

The girls basketball team returned five previous letter winners. The first few weeks taught the girls that they were in for a season of hard work and no regrets. The dreaded 17's were the most hated running activity. They consisted of running 17 lines in under 2 minutes. The girls defeated State-ranked West Sioux in the middle of the season. They also defeated Akron-Westfield making it the first time in Cubs history to defeat both Iowa schools in a season. The Cubs came in with a strong fight in Districts defeating Viborg-Hurley after being down the entire game until the final minutes. After the exhilarating defeat of Viborg-Hurley, the girls fell short in the District Championship against Centerville. Coaches Shannon Hames and Eric Bauder preached that the only team that can stop the Cubs is the girls themselves. With hard work during the summer and by attending many camps and tournaments, the girls will be putting up another fight next season and will be the team to beat.

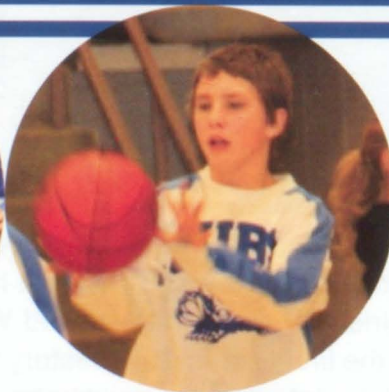

Boys Basketball

3. Where to pass? Junior Erik Barnes looks for the best scoring opportunity.

Even though the boys basketball team was the youngest in the state, they held their own this season. The boys ended their season with a record of 5-16. During regular season games they defeated Bridgewater-Emery, Gayville-Volin, Freeman Academy and Marion. They beat Gayville-Volin again during the 1st round of Districts.

The record for most charges taken in a season was broken by 8th grader Gavin Doering this season. "It comes naturally for me to awkwardly flop to the ground," said Doering. The Cubs had their ups and downs but always found a way to have fun through it all. The coaches and some athletes dressed up in "thrill shop" suits to one game. On another occasion they wore sweatervests and bow-ties.

The Cubs finished off their season after a loss to Viborg-Hurley in the second round of Districts.

Cheerleading

1. Sporting the new cheer jackets, the basketball cheerleaders present some Cub swag.
2. Getting some crowd response, A. Farley, B. Gustner, and S. Heiman lead a victory cheer.
3. Taking the spotlight, Eden Hemmingson perfects the cheer motto of "Hands on your hips and a smile on your lips."
4. Spending some extra time being silly, these cheerleaders get creative with pictures.

With the arrival of a baby, Karla Pulscher had to relinquish her position as the football cheer coach. Taking her place was Kelli Erickson who brought on some fantastic new changes, such as sparkly pom poms. Another new tradition started during the football season was Italian soda Mondays.

During the basketball and wrestling season, the cheerleaders experimented different stunts, with the creative assistance of coach Ms. Pulscher. They perfected a ground-to-liberty as well as a toe-touch to a cradle. Also developed was the flip stunt where the flyer holds hands with a cheerleader in front of her and then flips over the arms of two bases and then goes back into a prep. Basketball and wrestling cheerleaders also got new flashy cheer jackets this year that caught quite a few people's attention.

Wrestling is one of the toughest sports. Blood, sweat, and tears are shed throughout the season; this is no exception for the Alcester-Hudson wrestlers. The wrestling team, although small, grew into a close knit bunch of boys. They trained hard all season together and never gave up. The sound of the ref slapping the mat was one of the best feelings for these boys. They had a triumphant season, with no upperclassmen and only five wrestlers to compete. Sophomores Jaylen Dickau, Colin Walth and Domenick Wilson; 8th grader Trent Rus; and 7th grader Connor Sogn left it all out on the mat at Regions and were sad to see the season end.

Rus was awarded the Most Reversals plaque. Sogn and Walth tied for Most Pins and Walth also received the Most Wins and Takedowns plaque.

AHHS is one of the first schools to form a HOSA chapter, a new organization in South Dakota. HOSA stands for Health Occupation Students of America. Officers are junior Haley Boyer as President, senior Ashley Schiefen as Vice President, junior Shenia Doering as Secretary, and sophomore Sam Heiman as Reporter.

The first order of business for the chapter was helping out with the Blood Drive. Members helped hang up signs around town trying to publicize and encourage people to give blood.

Seniors Casey Reihe and Schiefen completed the EMT course sponsored by the Alcester Ambulance Association. Members also attended a Medical Boot Camp in Feb.

This year a statistically phenomenal 25% of the entire senior class (Ashley Schiefen, Jessica Wegh, Maggie Brown, and Casey Reihe) made it to the State competition in Yankton. This was due to the outstanding performance of the Readers Theater, "I Hate the Mall." Haley Boyer and Colin Walth were also participants, with Boyer competing in two additional events. Thankfully Marcus Ireland was able to fill in for Walth at the Region competition due to an illness. At State, the Oral Interp crew needed to make a last-minute trip to Wal-Mart to buy a matching belt...and tie...and a new white dress shirt. Many others competed in a non-state level competition also held in Yankton. A second Readers Theater group performed "Snow...Sort of...White" but there were also many solo and duet performances. To round the year off, a local performance was held in the Alcester library for community members.

Wait, what's Spring? With snow and winter weather lasting much longer than expected, Spring had a shaky start. Golf and track practices and meets, along with music contests and play rehearsals, had to be cancelled or postponed; we even had a few Spring snow days. When school was in session, the halls seemed empty as events for many sports and organizations kept students busy.

The band and choir students finally embarked on their adventure to New York City, where they had the time of their lives. With the weather finally turning around, the Ag structures class got to work on a postponed renovation of the school's storage building. Students made a difference with community service projects including a dance workshop and a lemonade stand for cancer research. To top the Spring season off, the high school actors put on their wowing performance of Don't Drink the Water.

Goofing off before getting to work, Ag structures students Austin Heck, Lance Sogn and Shawn Wilson prepare for their building renovation.

With the winter storms arriving during the spring season, scheduled meets were few and far between. The Region meet actually began as a beautiful day but developed into a torrential downpour, an hour delay and athletes confined to their buses. Even though the runners raced in the cold, wind and rain, it didn't affect AHHS athletes. Freshman Grant Johnson qualified for State in the 300 meter hurdles. Senior Jessica Wegh led the girls track team by qualifying for State in the 100, 200 and 400 meter races. At State she placed 3rd in the 400 and 8th in the 200. Jessica qualified for State every year in her six year running career and placed at State five years in multiple events. She is the AHHS record holder in the 200 and 400 dash and in the 4x200, the 4x400 and the medley relays. Jessica also received the Outstanding Athlete scholarship at the Howard Wood track meet worth $1000. Her running shoes will be difficult to fill.

Golf

1. Hoping for a good tee off, 7th grader Sydney McKee swings her club.
2. Cruising the golf course junior Kassie Van Wyk and sophomore Abbey Farley have some fun.
3. Giving freshman Nick Johannsen guidance, junior Austin Schuller offers words of wisdom.
4. Lining up the putt, junior Andrew Terwee hopes it will sink.

"Having a huge team was awesome as was the season. I will miss everyone and thank you."
-Sally Thompson, Coach

"Golf is a game in which you yell fore, shoot six, and write down five."
-Zach Ronning, Freshman

"I learned to love golf."
-Austin Heck, Senior

WE SURVIVED BY HIDING FROM THE WEATHER

The golf team was ever growing this year with an onslaught of new members, particularly seventh graders. It was unfortunate the weather was so harsh that the golfers didn't get many meets or practices in; but as the season progressed, it seemed somewhat normal for a South Dakota spring: freezing one day and 90 the next. The girls team placed second at the Tri-Valley Conference tourney with junior Kassie Van Wyk placing 10th, sophomore Abbey Farley placing 8th, eighth grader Brigita Rasmussen placing 7th and seventh grader Jordyn Huber placing 9th. Eight members of the golf team traveled to Sioux Falls for Regions to play at Elmwood. Freshman Grant Johnson qualified for the State Tournament in Brookings on May 20-21. The weather again provided a soggy memory. This was coach Sally Thompson's last year and she will be greatly missed by everyone on the team.

Fanatics

Showing off his cheers, freshman Brock Norseen has a good time at the game.

Celebrating their title as District volleyball champions, Cub fans hold up their plaque.

Whether it was a volleyball game, wrestling meet, football game or basketball game, our fans were sure to show up and support everything the Cubs did. The crowds at every sporting event were even bigger this year, due to the fact our school now has free admission to get into games. The girls were there every time those Friday night lights came on and the boys cheered on the volleyball players at every match. Students appeared several times in ridiculous apparel. Pep rallies were held to prepare our players for every sporting event. While the girls competed against Parker for Regions in volleyball, nearly every boy in our high school showed up. They came dressed in wrestling singlets, hunting clothes, and Cub spirit gear. We also continued our new traditions of the black out game for football and the pink out game for volleyball. Both boys and girls wore the vintage basketball jerseys to District basketball games. The cheers that the boys made were loud and crazy, fueling the girls in whatever sport they played. Even when the teams were down and losing faith, the fans were there to add energy and help their team win!

"Jesse SittingCrow is the life of the party at sporting events!" - Freshman Nick Johannsen

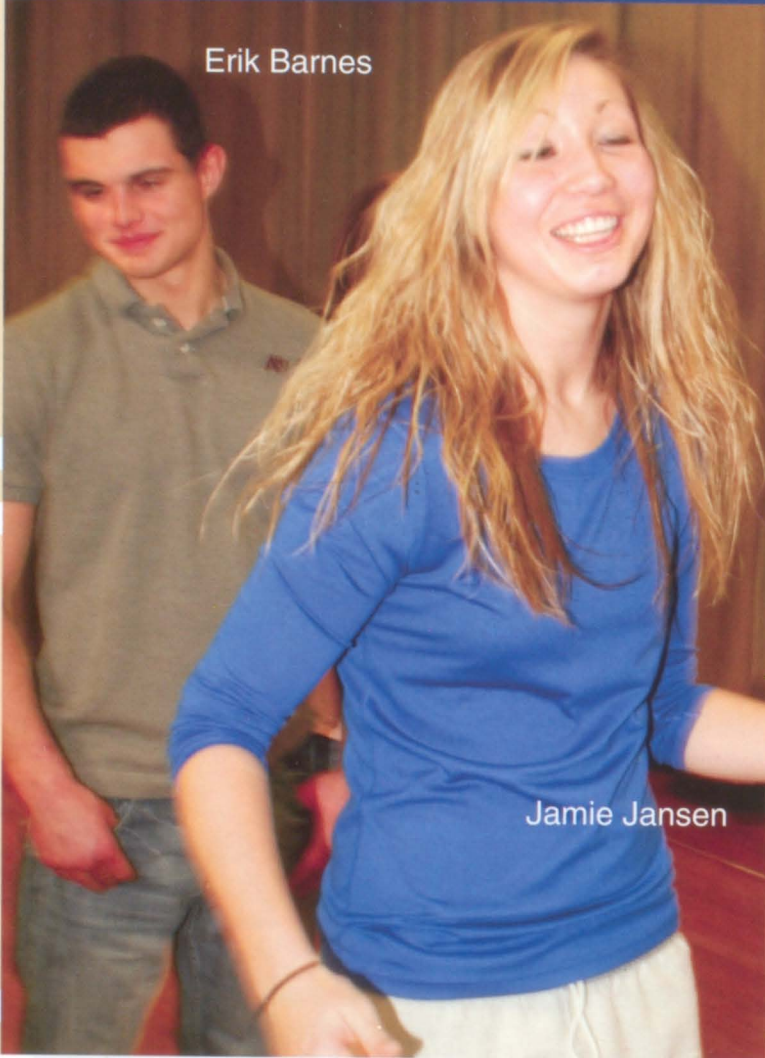

"The best fan to be is an Alcester-Hudson fan!" -Sophomore Abbey Farley

"Fly like a butterfly, punch like a flea!" -8th grader Trent Rus

FCCLA

Jamie Jansen

They ain't "lion," senior Ashley Schiefen, junior Haley Boyer and adviser Kelsey Randall enjoy the zoo at the National Cluster meeting in Oklahoma.

Describing her life with six sisters, 7th grader Rachel Boyer practices her Illustrated Talk.

Celebrating their creative Halloween costuming, FCCLA and FFA members strut their stuff at the junior high dance.

Fundraising on Valentines Day, freshman M. Christensen hands out pop grams.

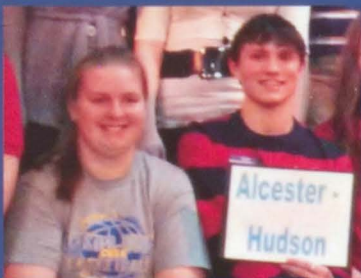

WE SURVIVED BY LIGHTING THE TORCH

For the second year in a row, AHHS received another new adviser. Kelsey Randall leaped into the chapter with a full plate: she had a State Officer, senior Ashley Schiefen, and a State Peer Educator, junior Haley Boyer. The members planned and hosted the annual Senior Citizens Thanksgiving dinner and the District Meeting that was held at AHHS.

The chapter kept busy throughout the year with 7th grader Rachel Boyer running for State Junior High Representative and Haley Boyer landing the District IV Chairperson succeeding Schiefen. At the State meeting, H. Boyer earned the position as Vice-President of Community Service.

At the state level, there were many competitors from the chapter. Three of the teams earned a Top Superior: senior Megan Brooke in National Programs; juniors Erik Barnes, Jamie Jansen and Kassie Van Wyk in National Programs; and Schiefen and H. Boyer in Focus on Children. Senior Mikayla Brooke earned a silver in Career Investigation and 7th grader Hannah Renken earned a gold on her Illustrated Talk. Throughout the year, FCCLA members lit their torches by developing projects to help the community.

"It wasn't what I was expecting."
-Marcus Ireland, Sophomore

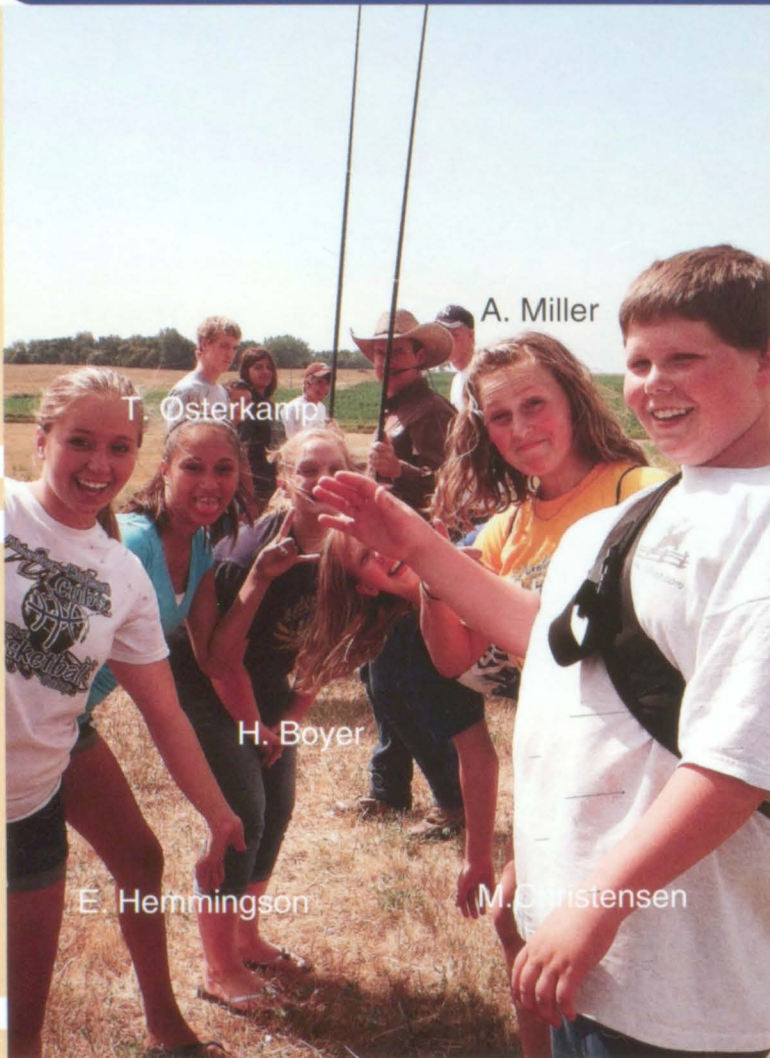

"Heey macarena, aight!"
-Kassie VanWyk, Junior

"I couldn't have asked for a better FCCLA experience."
-Ashley Schiefen, Senior

FFA

What could it be? Seventh grader Luke Christensen anxiously tears apart the duct tape wrapping on his Christmas party gift as eighth grader Donovan Wilson looks on.

Bonding on Target Field, L. Nygard, L. Sogn, E. Hemmingson, and T. Osterkamp attend FFA Day with the Twins.

H. Roman, A. Miller, T. Osterkamp, A. Schiefen, and H. Boyer work courtesy corp at National Convention.

Brigita Rasmussen and Olivia Limoges pucker up to Lego Woody at The Mall of America.

Have you ever properly judged dirt? The FFA chapter has! This year, the members adopted a new challenge of learning how to test soil quality, range, and depth so they could compete in land judging contests around the area. Many members also participated in leadership CDE's throughout the Fall. Haley Boyer advanced to State in Job Interview and Prepared Public Speaking, along with the Ag Issues team consisting of Casey Reihe, Olivia Limoges, Brigita Rasmussen and Ariyanna Miller. Five members even traveled to Indianapolis, IN and attended National Convention in October.

The winter was packed full for FFA members as they had their fruit sales fundraiser, Haley Boyer attended district officer training and a legislative breakfast in Pierre, and the chapter organized and participated in National FFA Week activities.

Spring CDE's arose quickly for members. They participated in multiple practice CDE's before heading off to State Convention, where Boyer placed 11th in Floriculture and Connor Sogn placed 43rd in Horse Judging. While at State Convention members attended sessions, worked courtesy corp, and viewed a hypnotist show. This year was enjoyable with many new junior high members and old ones alike!

"I like FFA because it gets people to work together and help others."
- Brandi Vanden Hoek,

Band & Chorus

Standing atop the Empire State Building, sophomore Marcus Ireland and freshmen Cassie Schiefen and Ariyanna Miller enjoy the spectacular view of New York City.

Practicing his favorite part of "Fate of the Gods," freshman Zachary Ronning blasts his trombone.

Synchronizing their voices, freshman G. Rodriguez and seniors J. Wegh and E. Beeck train for their concert.

Touring the World Trade Center, junior Haley Boyer surveys the remains of the Twin Towers.

The highlight for band and choir students this year was the long anticipated music trip to New York. After a twenty seven hour bus ride, the music group finally made it to the Big Apple. During their stay in New York City they got to see Wicked, a musical about the witches from the Wizard of Oz. They also got to visit historical sites such as Grant's Tomb, the Empire State Building, and the World Trade Center. Students enjoyed a harbor cruise around the Hudson River and were treated to a view of the Statue of Liberty. Despite all of the rainy weather, the AHHS students will remember their trip together and the memories that came with it.

While at home, the band and chorus were busy with concerts and contests. They held a festive Christmas concert as well as an outstanding spring concert at the end of the year. Both groups were successful at Small Group Contests and the band had great results at Large Group Contest. Unfortunately, the chorus was unable to attend their Large Group Contest due to weather complications, but they were extra prepared for their concert! The band students had a great time as always with all of their marching at different parades in the fall.

"T-Nel and I rock it up on the French horn."
-Kinzi DeBruin, Freshman

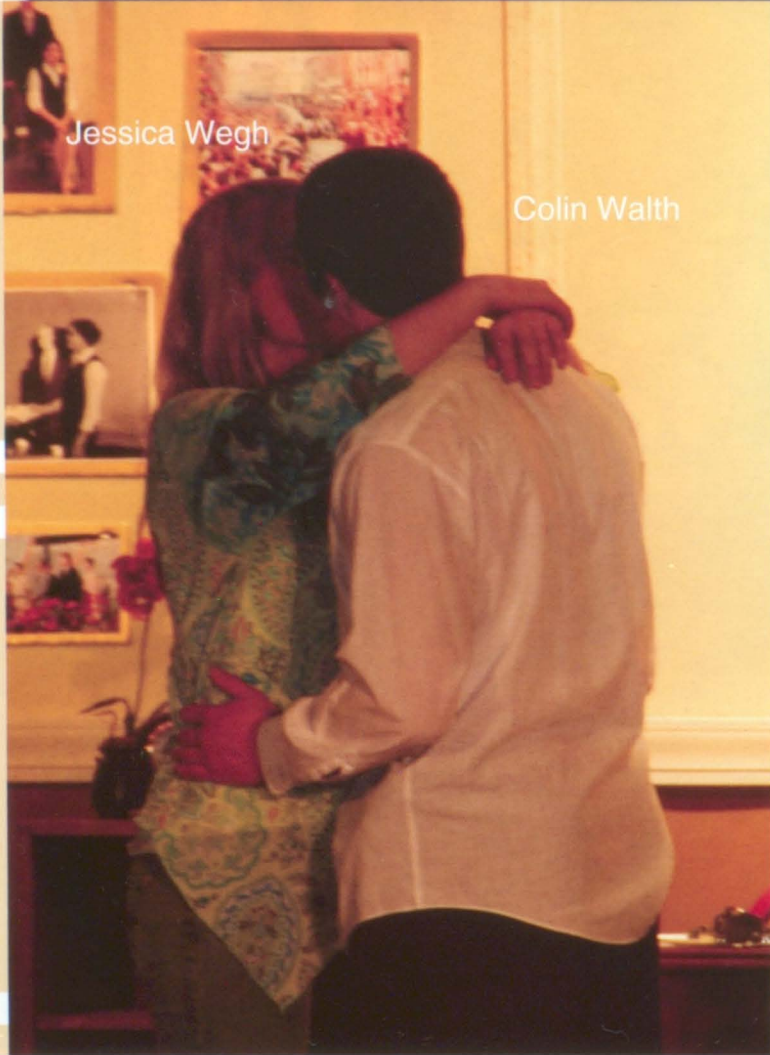

"I love hitting the high notes."
-Lyle LaFramboise, Sophomore

"My favorite part of the trip was seeing Wicked."
-Landon Nygard, Junior

Play

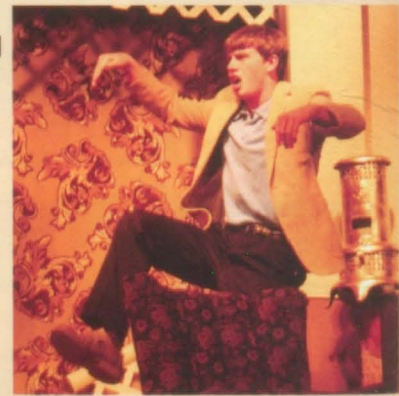

Jessica Wegh

Colin Walth

Enjoying the subtleties of the Sultan of Bashir's party, Ashley Schiefen fans herself while Sierra McConnell tastes a "playfully articulate" glass of wine.

Desperately attempting to defend himself, Casey Reihe fends off his communist arch nemesis Krojack with a display of karate chops and kicks.

Raging with an unstable cook's temper, Sam Heiman wields her wisk.

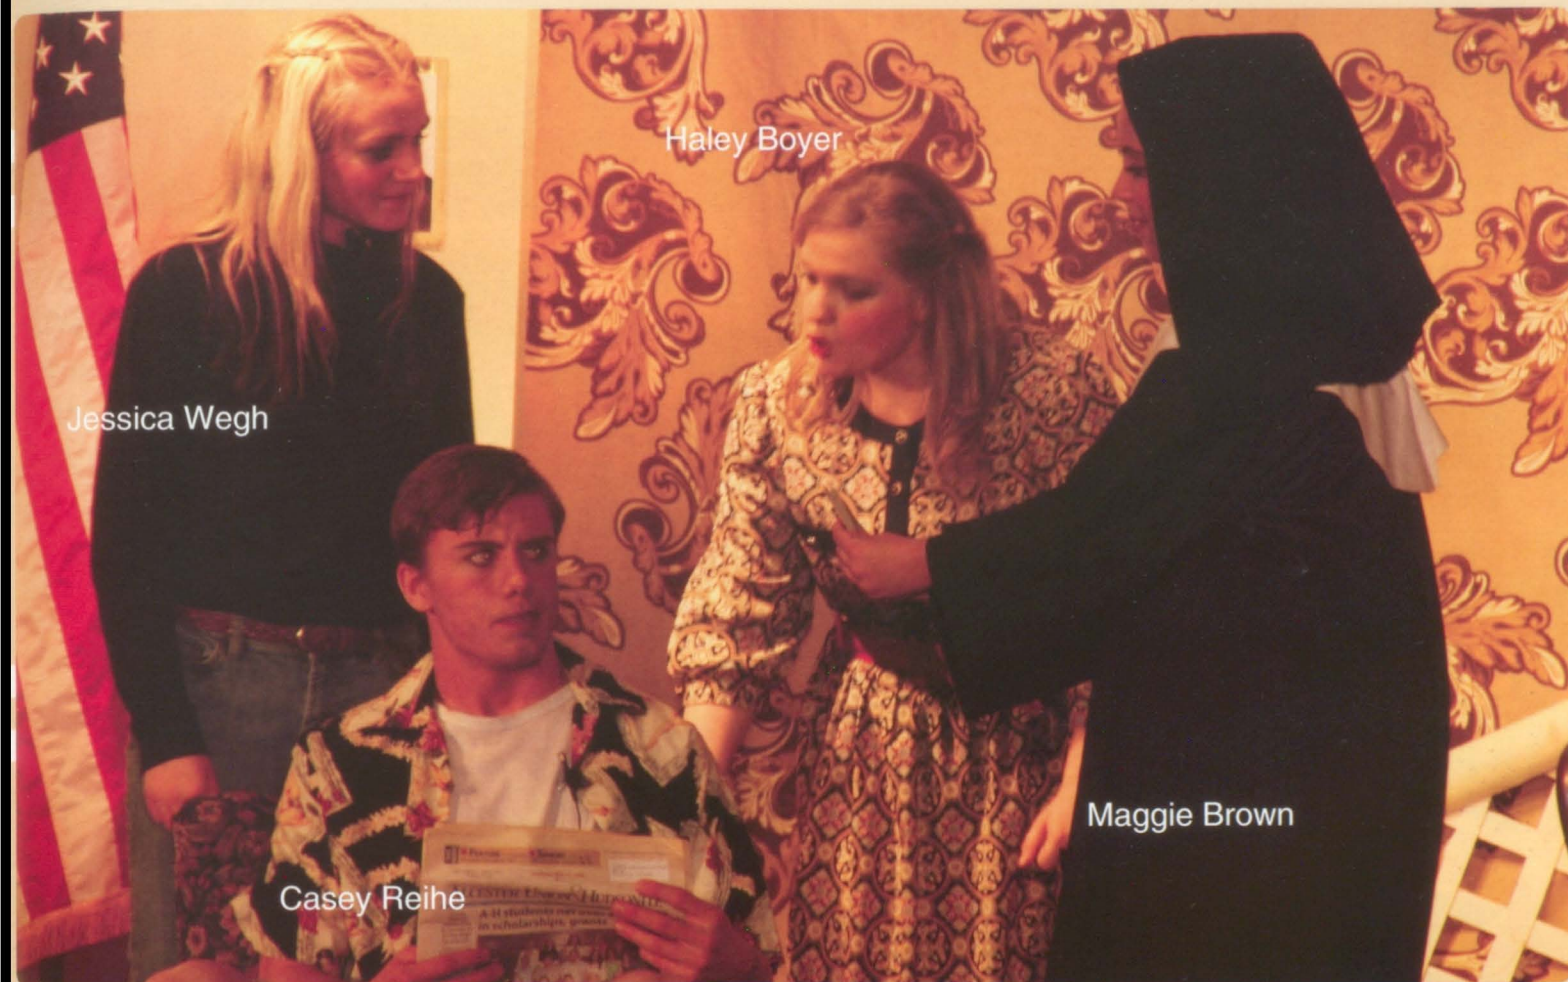

Searching for the Hollanders, Sheina Doering and Brock Norseen demand justice.

Pretending to be the Wright Brothers, Ashton Liston flies around the stage.

WE SURVIVED WITH BIG BOOTY

Jessica Wegh

Haley Boyer

Casey Reihe

Maggie Brown

In Woody Allen's Don't Drink the Water, three unsuspecting tourists, Walter (Casey Reihe), Marion (Haley Boyer), and Susan (Jessica Wegh) Hollander, get accused of espionage in a communist country. They take refuge in the U.S. Embassy to hide from the communist, Krojack (Shenia Doering), and her henchman (Brock Norseen). Axel Magee (Colin Walth), running the embassy in his mother's (Abbey Farley) absence, foolishly admits the innocent tourists are spies. In the events that follow, a devout nun (Maggie Brown), trusted assistants (Mikayla Brooke and Ashton Liston), and an irritated chef (Samantha Heiman) all struggle to work together to get the Hollanders past the Sultan of Bashir (Marcus Ireland), his wife (Cheyenne Sorlie), the party guests (Kinzi DeBruin, Cassie Schiefen, and Brianna Walth), and back to Newark.

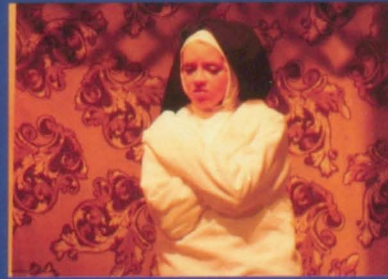

Before each performance the cast warmed up with "Big Booty" and its alternate editions and "Zip Zap Zop." This year a special thanks goes out to the wonderful stage managers, Ashley Schiefen, Eden Hemmingson, and Sierra McConnell; Brigita Rassmussen and her bunny rabbit Fluffy; and the superb director Mrs. Walsh! We hope your last year was one to remember!

"What did you think it was? A place that sold guards and dogs and barbed wire?"
- Haley Boyer, Junior

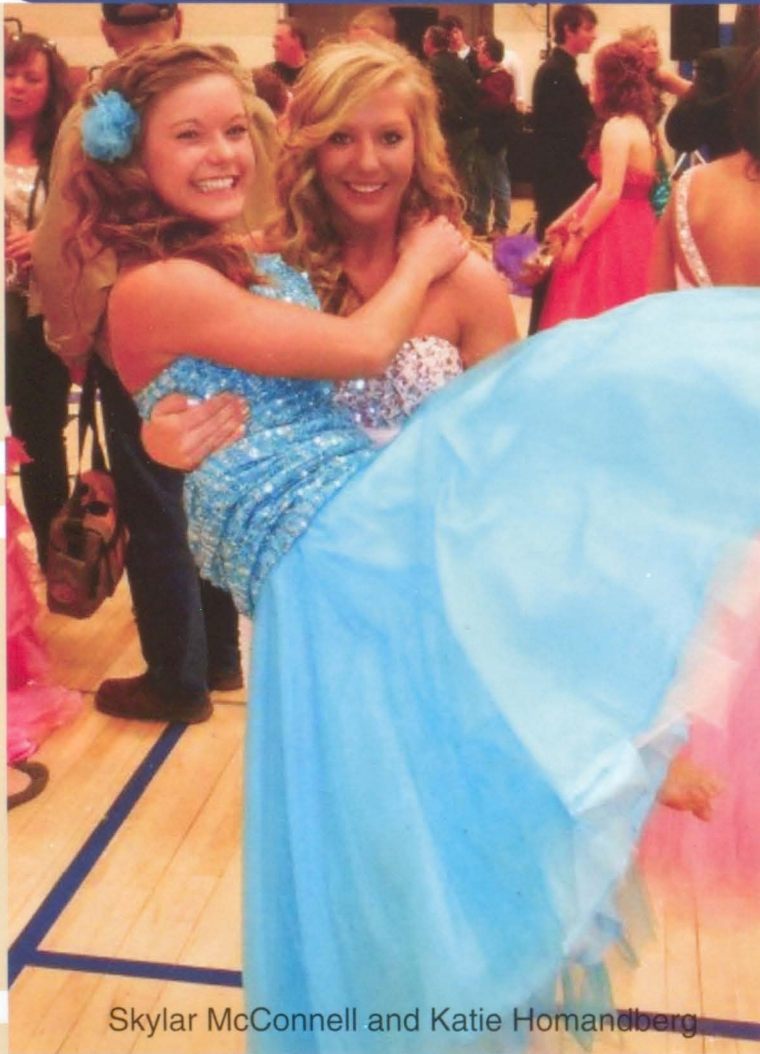

"Susan, have I ever told you I loved you?"
- Colin Walth, Sophomore

"You called?"

Prom

Skylar McConnell and Katie Homandberg

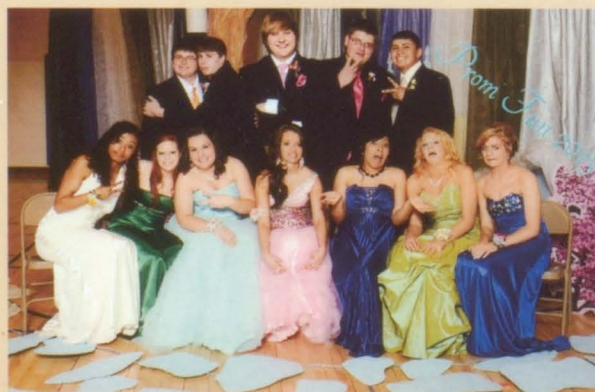

After the crowning ceremony, King Austin Osterkamp and Queen Ashley Schiefen stand by to take pictures.

Learning the basics of gambling, juniors Shenia Doering and Lindsey Terpestra roll the dice.

Letting sleep overwhelm her, senior Jessica Wegh rests on a make-shift bed.

Traditions started again when the junior class parents organized a banquet for Prom. The last time there was a banquet was in 2010 and students were eager to have a formal banquet. Transportation was also provided for the students, and instead of the bus everyone was dreading, they got to ride in limos! Seniors got dibs and they chose to arrive in a party bus which had refreshments and a booming radio system.

Homecoming King Jesse Sitting Crow and Queen Jessica Wegh crowned Austin Osterkamp and Ashley Schiefen as the Prom King & Queen.

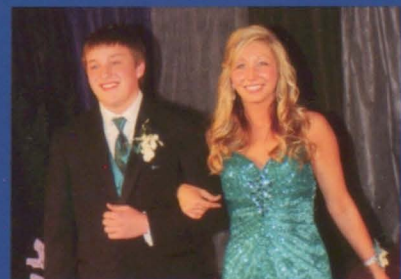

The junior parents kept After-Pom a secret which resulted in anxious students. Students traveled to Hartford to spend the night at a bowling alley. There was plenty of food, a photo booth, bowling lanes, and the chance to learn how to gamble at the casino. There were different tables set up and students were given $2,500 in chips to gamble. The five people who won the most money in chips earned a prize. The first place winners were juniors Shenia Doering and Lindsey Terpestra, totaling $24,000 in chips. It was a night well-spent and everyone could agree it felt like a fairy tale.

"It was great."

Honors

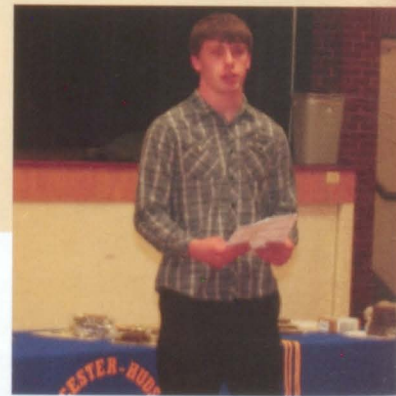

Ashley Schiefen

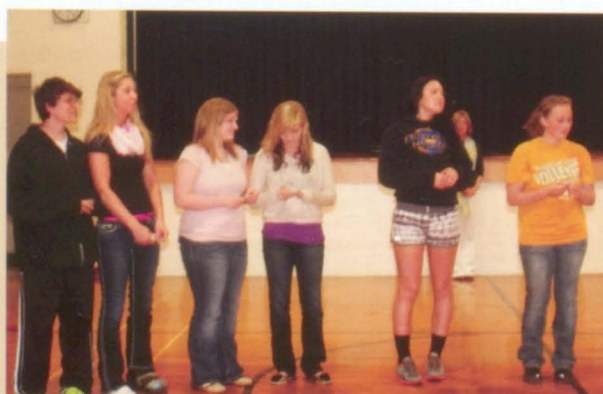

Principal LeeAnn Haisch awards senior Chantell Westberg the Harry Lee Scholarship.

Speaking at the Awards Banquet, Student Body President Casey

Reihe welcomes the students, staff and guests.

Smiling with pride, junior Haley Boyer is presented the Minnie Larson Award.

Rewarded for their patriotic side, Voice of Democracy winners wait to receive their pin.

Feeling honored, sophomore Eden Hemmingson proudly accepts the Governor's Leadership Luncheon Award.

Hardwork and dedication pays off, as many seniors were awarded with scholarships. Jessica Weigh was awarded with the Alpha Sorority Scholarship, Beta Sorority Scholarship, Athletic Booster Club Scholarship, Michael Tabbert Memorial Scholarship, David Leslie Hermanson Scholarship, Owen Buum Memorial Scholarship, Alpha Delta Kappa Sorority Scholarship, Ministerial Association Scholarship, State Bank of Alcester Scholarship, and the Anna and Paul Lind Scholarship. Casey Reihe was awarded with the Blue Jean Scholarship, Alpha Sorority Scholarship, Athletic Booster Club Scholarship, David Leslie Hermanson Scholarship and the AHHS School Board Scholarship. Ashley Schiefen received the Blue Jean Scholarship, the Alpha Sorority Scholarship, the National Honor Society Scholarship, Michael Tabbert Memorial Scholarship, Lions Club Scholarship, Alliance Communications Scholarship, Alpha Delta Kappa Sorority Scholarship and the AHHS School Board Scholarship. Maggie Brown received the Beta Sorority Scholarship, and Chantell Westberg was awarded with the Harry Lee Scholarship and the Louis H. Shoraga Scholarship. Senior National Honor Society members were JoAnah Beeck, Casey Riehe, Ashley Schiefen, Brandi Vanden Hoek and Jessica Weigh. Unfortunately the traditional dessert banquet was canceled due to weather.

"I am excited about my scholarship and will use it in the near future!"
-Maggie Brown, Senior

"I am honored to be the representative to HOBY!"
-Samantha Heiman, Sophomore

"Receiving these awards and scholarships was a great honor."
-Chantell Westberg, Senior

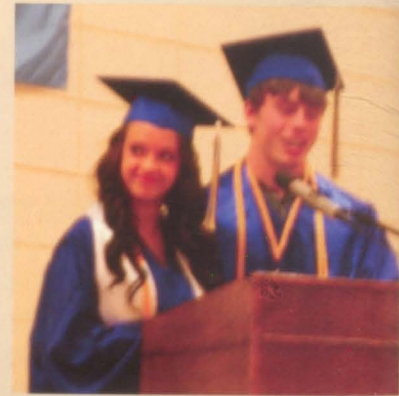

Graduation

Jessica Wegh

Stepping off the stage, Jesse Sitting Crow searches for a spot on the floor to watch the slideshow.

Reminiscing about high school memories, Casey Reihe and Maggie Brown deliver the senior speech.

Ready to be done, Shawn Wilson greedily grabs his diploma.

Confident of her plans, Chantell Westberg grasps the hands of Haley Boyer and Landon Nygard.

Anxious to begin her future, Megan Brooke proudly receives her diploma.

WE SURVIVED BY BEING LATE TO PRACTICE

On May 11, 14 senior Alcester-Hudson students put on their caps and gowns to receive their diplomas. Because their numbers were few, they were very close and had a multitude of memories to share throughout the day. Chantell Westberg began the festivities with a prayer. Casey Reihe and Maggie Brown then shared memories from the years about each person in the class. Next Eva Beck sang "Girl on Fire." After that, Ashley Schiefen, Brandi Vanden Hoek, Jessica Wegh and JoAnah Beeck joined Eva to sing "Today My Life Begins" by Bruno Mars. When they finished and made it back up to stage, Eva and Mikayla Brooke gave their parent appreciation speech. The seniors then left the stage to join the audience in watching a slideshow of friends and memories. After that, they gave flowers to their families. Next, Principal LeeAnn Haisch had a few words to say about each individual and their personalities. Superintendent Tim Rhead closed the ceremony by handing out the diplomas to the proud graduates. After posing for many pictures, the class headed outside to let their caps fly.

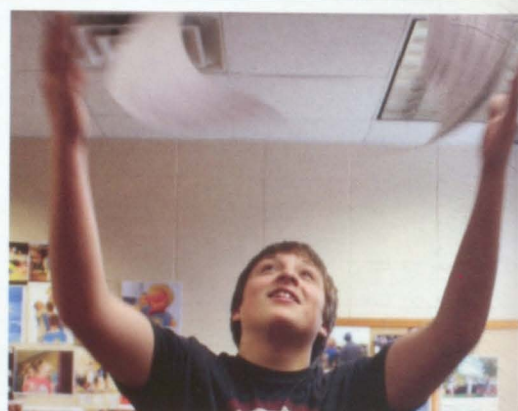

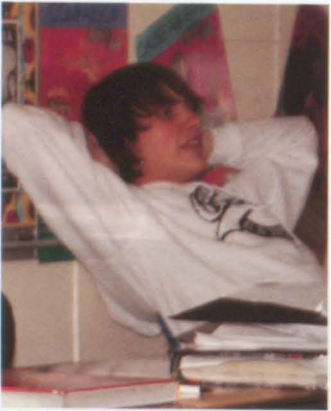

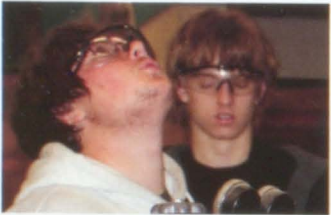

"I'm excited to start the next chapter of my life."
- Ashley Schiefen

"I'm so ready to move forward with my future"

WE SURVIVED

BY BEING US

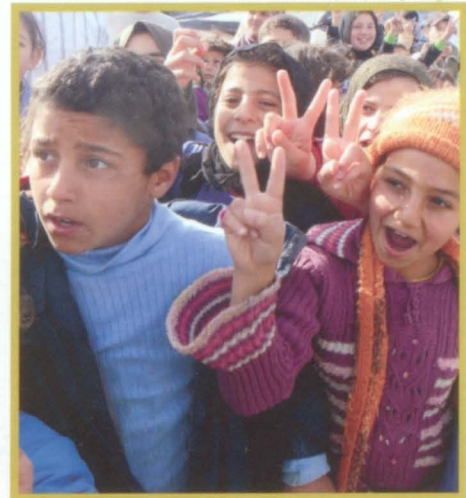

We

Really Lived

Not only did we survive this year, we lived. It may not have always felt like we were living; between working hard all day, studying into the wee hours of the night, and dragging ourselves out of bed in the morning to do it all over again; but we did it. We made it to the end of the year and now we reminisce on the memories that we are left with. When we look back on our year and our lives, it's one thing to say that we survived, but it's so much greater to say We Really Lived.
